The AURORAN

MUSCATINE HIGH SCHOOL

Dedication

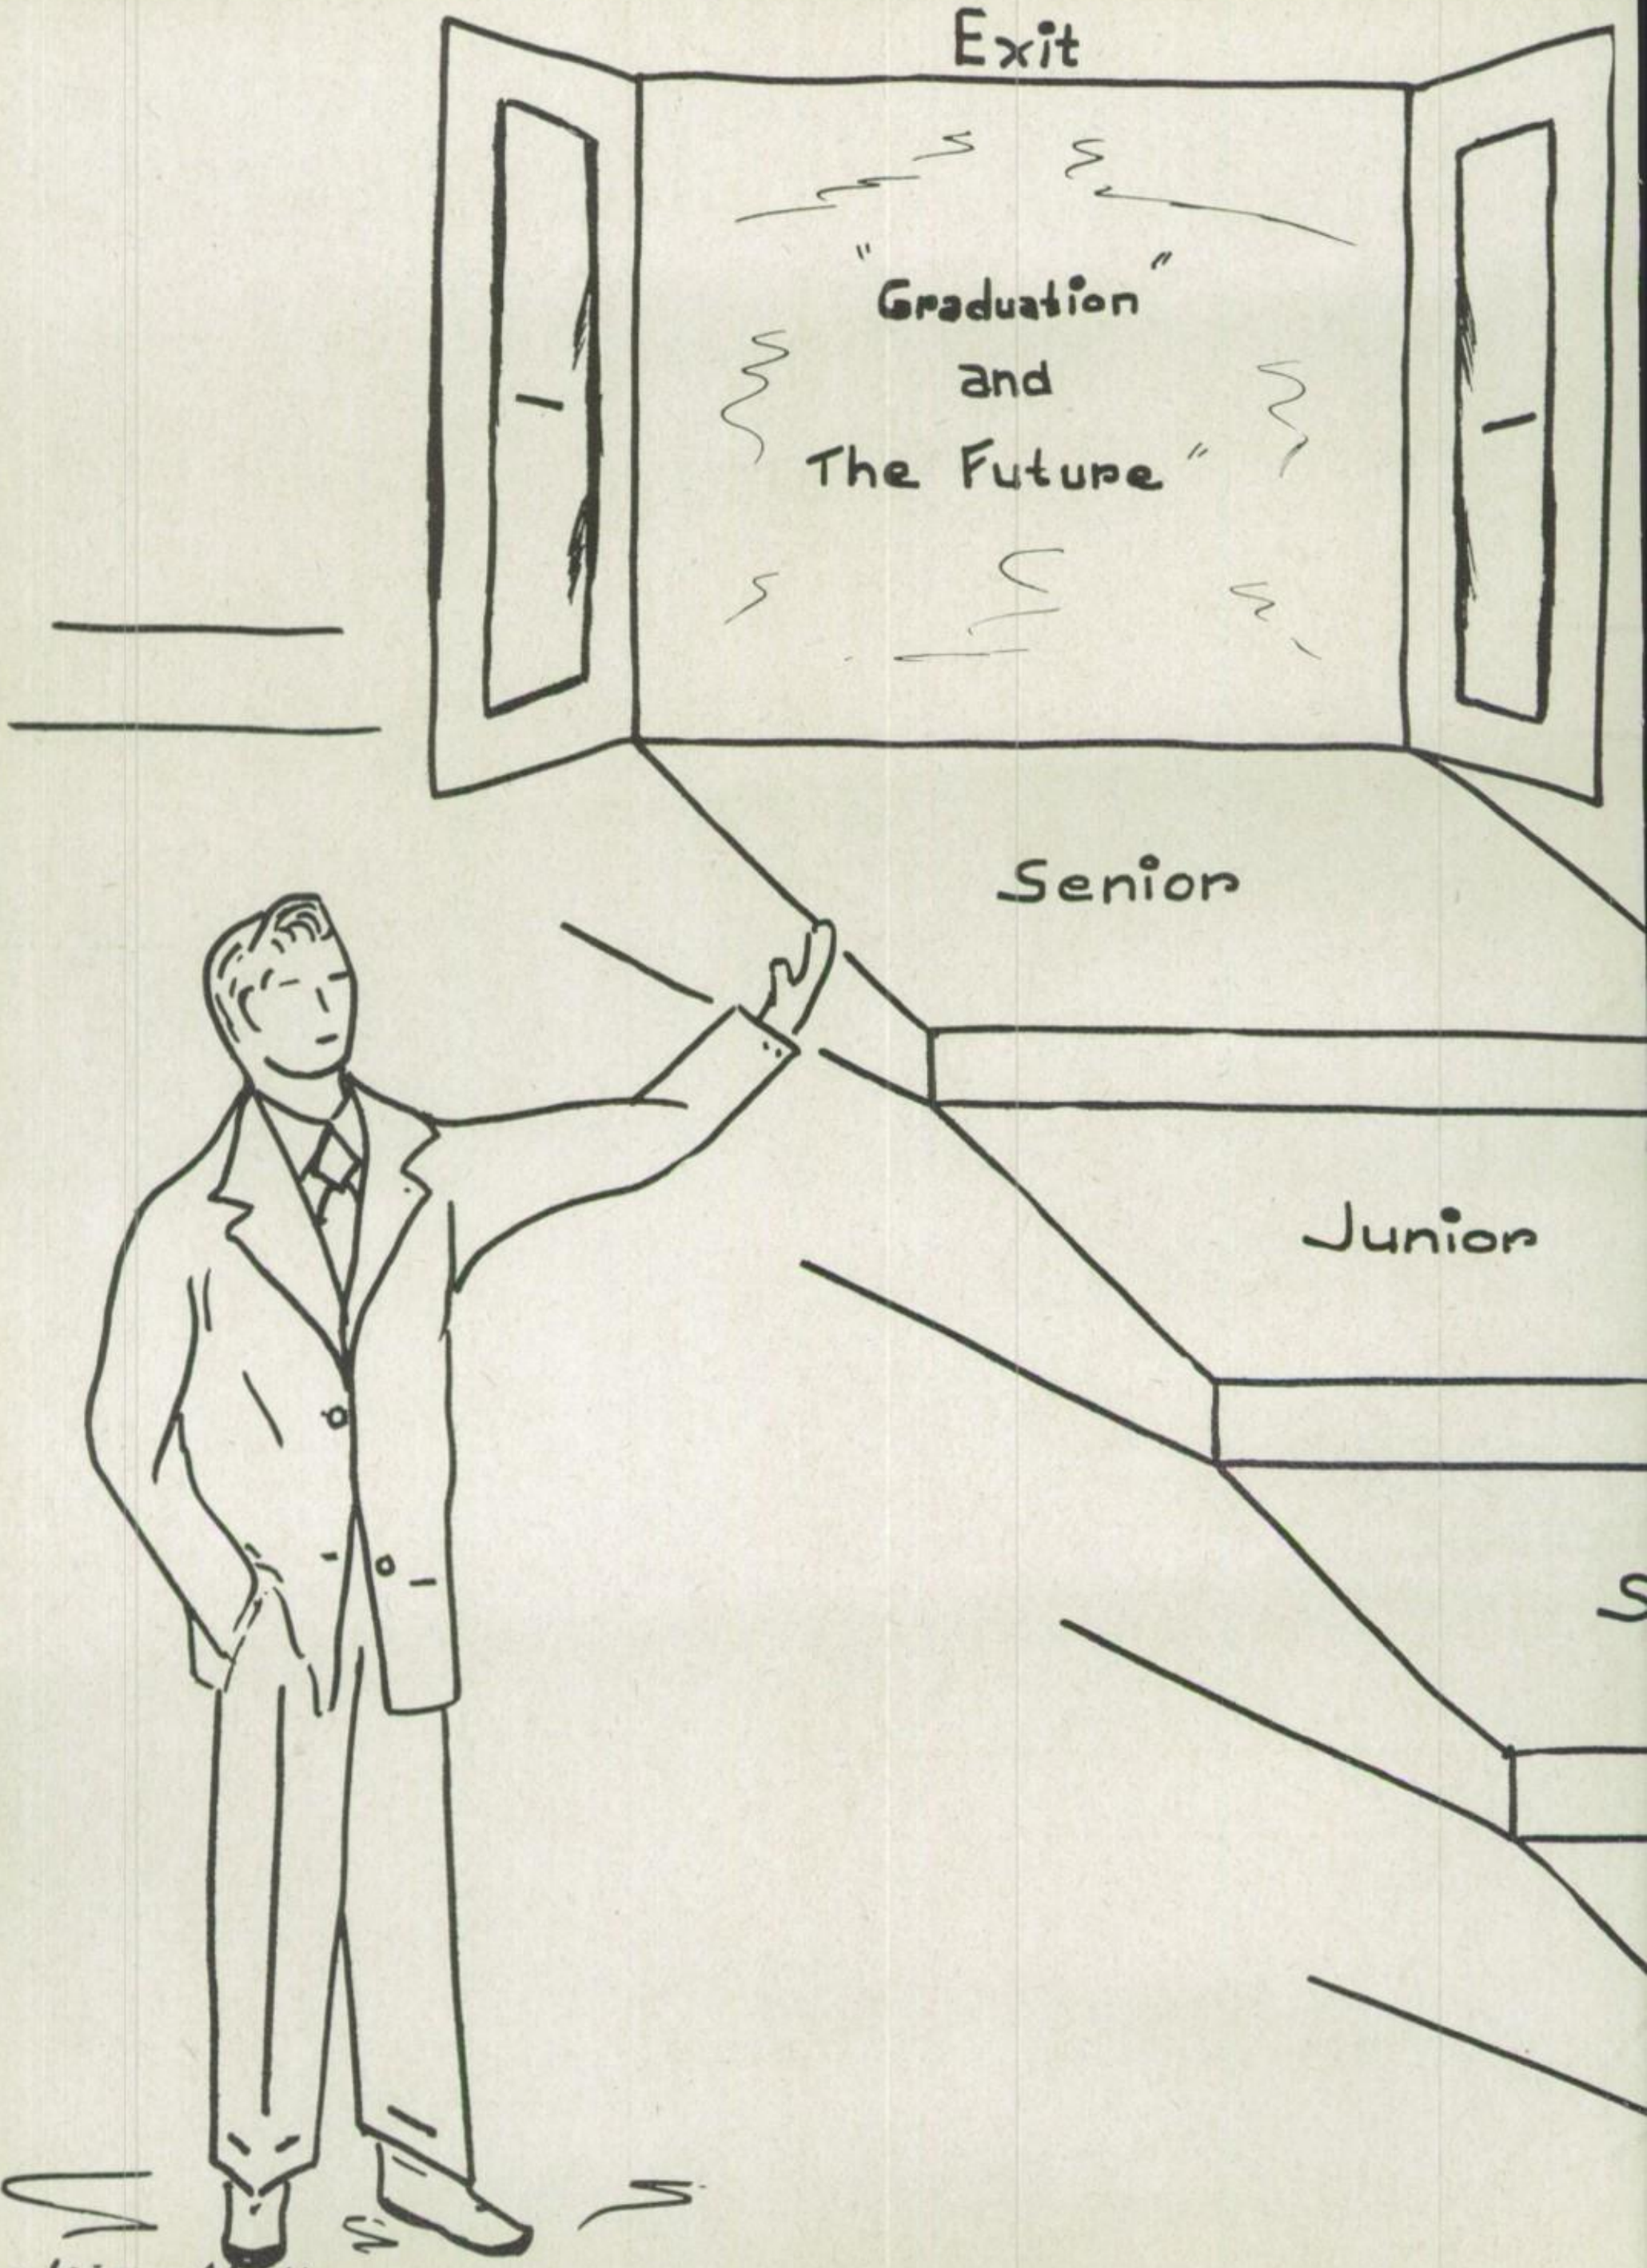

I, Patricia Fuller, editor of the 1951 AURORAN, hereby dedicate this book to Genevieve McCandless. Miss McCandless, known to many Musky students as "Lady", was advisor of the high school publications for many years. She will be ever remembered by the students of M.H.S., so I with my co-workers, and new advisor, Melvin Locke, extend a hearty "thank you" to her and dedicate this edition in appreciation of her journalistic contributions to the AURORAN publications.

You've heard the saying "two heads are better than one"? Our Superintendent Arthur A. Johnson conversed with Fred G. Messenger, who is Principal of our Senior High School. One of their current problems was the revision of the curriculum to fit the needs, interests and capacities of the individual students. The books on their desks indicated the problem of the day could have pertained to English, or perhaps it was the latest humorous joke.

Board of Education

At the regular business meeting of the Muscatine Board of Education, Bill Krueger, Ray Dunker and Superintendent Johnson stood behind this scene of action, while Robert Hahn helped August Altenbernd sign vouchers for payment of bills, which were incurred during the month. Other members at the table included Mrs. Van Snyder and President Clifford Worst. The empty chair was for Omer Jones, but due to a business trip he was unable to attend.

Mrs. Marie Ruthenberg (left) is well known to both Musky students and graduates for her familiar signature and her kindness. Around the office she is often dubbed "Aunt Molly." One of her many daily jobs was checking over the attendance records. Always by her side to help run the office was Musky's efficient student secretary, JoAnn Bloom. Jo's duties varied from typing and mimeographing to going over the many class lists and helping students.

Secretaries

Three more of the powers-that-be in Musky halls are Eula Downer (left), dean of girls; "Skip" Weber, boys' guidance counselor and assistant principal; and the new girls' guidance counselor, Betty Bisdorf. They spent much time studying these profile sheets of the education achievement tests unhappily taken by Muskies last fall. These tests, given this year for the first time, will be given every year, enabling students to determine their advancement.

Counselors

Jeanne Jahnke often led a bewildered student to a hunted reference book or two in the Library. Evelyn Schultz (left), Mary Bielefeld (center), and Florence Hahn carefully looked over their homemaking files from time to time. Parnik Hazarian (left), Leonard Roggeveen (center), and Lindley Hoopes got together to discuss their various shops problems. Floyd Scott diligently repaired any broken movie projectors he found in the Muscatine schools.

Faculty

During the very cold winter days, Mildred Fogarty (left), was glad to have a ride with Betty Bisdorf in her car. June Lingo kept very busy directing Junior College plays, and she was often seen with a script in her hand. Two other English teachers displayed their musical talents. Charles Shook played the organ for Musky school plays and accompanied the chorus for the Messiah. Mearl Wood coaxed the piano to give out with many merry tunes.

Faculty

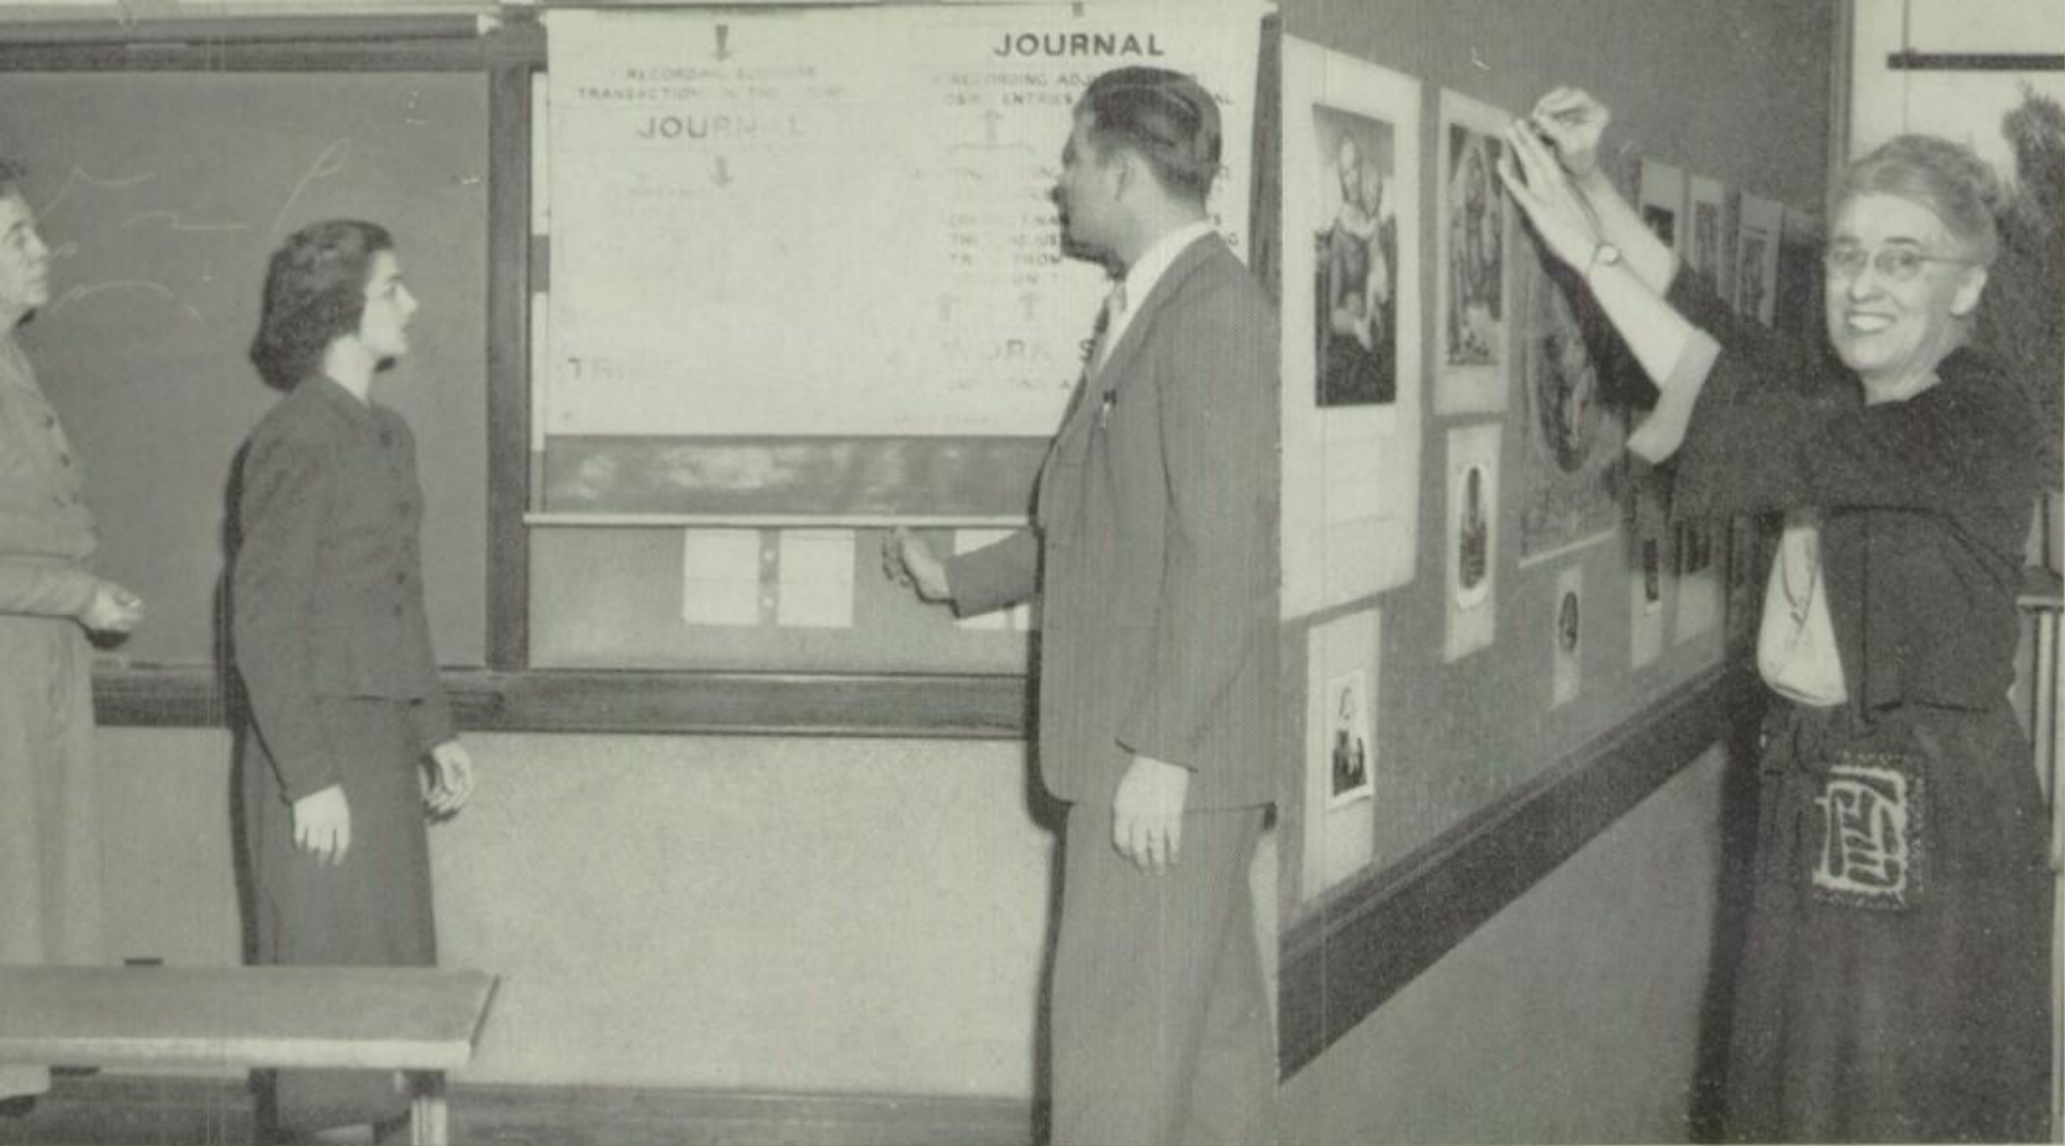

Usually MHS fellows pushed their cars, but this time the tables were turned. Virgil Godfrey (left), John Bready (center), and Archie Martin pushed Max Smith's car. John Goudy supervised a radio speaking group. Louisa Jericho and Lefty Schnack stopped to chat before going into the Little Theater to view an Economics film. Carl Paetz (left), and Tom Bruner waited while Eula Downer checked some math figures with the ever-faithful adding machine.

Faculty

Language teachers Catherine Miller (left) and Hetty Kemble checked the teachers' loaded bulletin board. Earl Gantenbein and Mary Culhane bravely tackled the task of making out gym schedules for the second semester. Max Smith (left) grinned as Max Collins sadly paid off a bet by way of the convenient cafeteria Coke machine. Walt Kochnoff tried out the new drivers' training car before letting his classes learn the ropes.

Faculty

Melvin Locke shows one of the six new charts, which the school purchased this year for book-keeping, to Caroline Liebke (left) and Betty Jo Anderson. Edith Stocker displays her collection of famous painting in the art room. While Jim McGarvey (left), Jim Maas, and Geneva Grace were on hall duty, science was the topic of their discussion. The new microscope is being examined by the two biology teachers, Ted Allen (left) and John Baird.

Faculty

Coaches

These three scholars were practicing speech-making for the final senior events of the year. JoAnn Bloom, the first to try overcoming stagefright, was valedictorian with a 4.00 average. Joan Borgstadt (left) and Alice Nichols tied for salutatorian honors with an average of 3.85. Besides these high class honors, JoAnn was an efficient secretary to Mr. Messenger, Alice put in many hours in the music department, and Joan did her bit for Mr. Loper at J.C.

Val 'n Sals

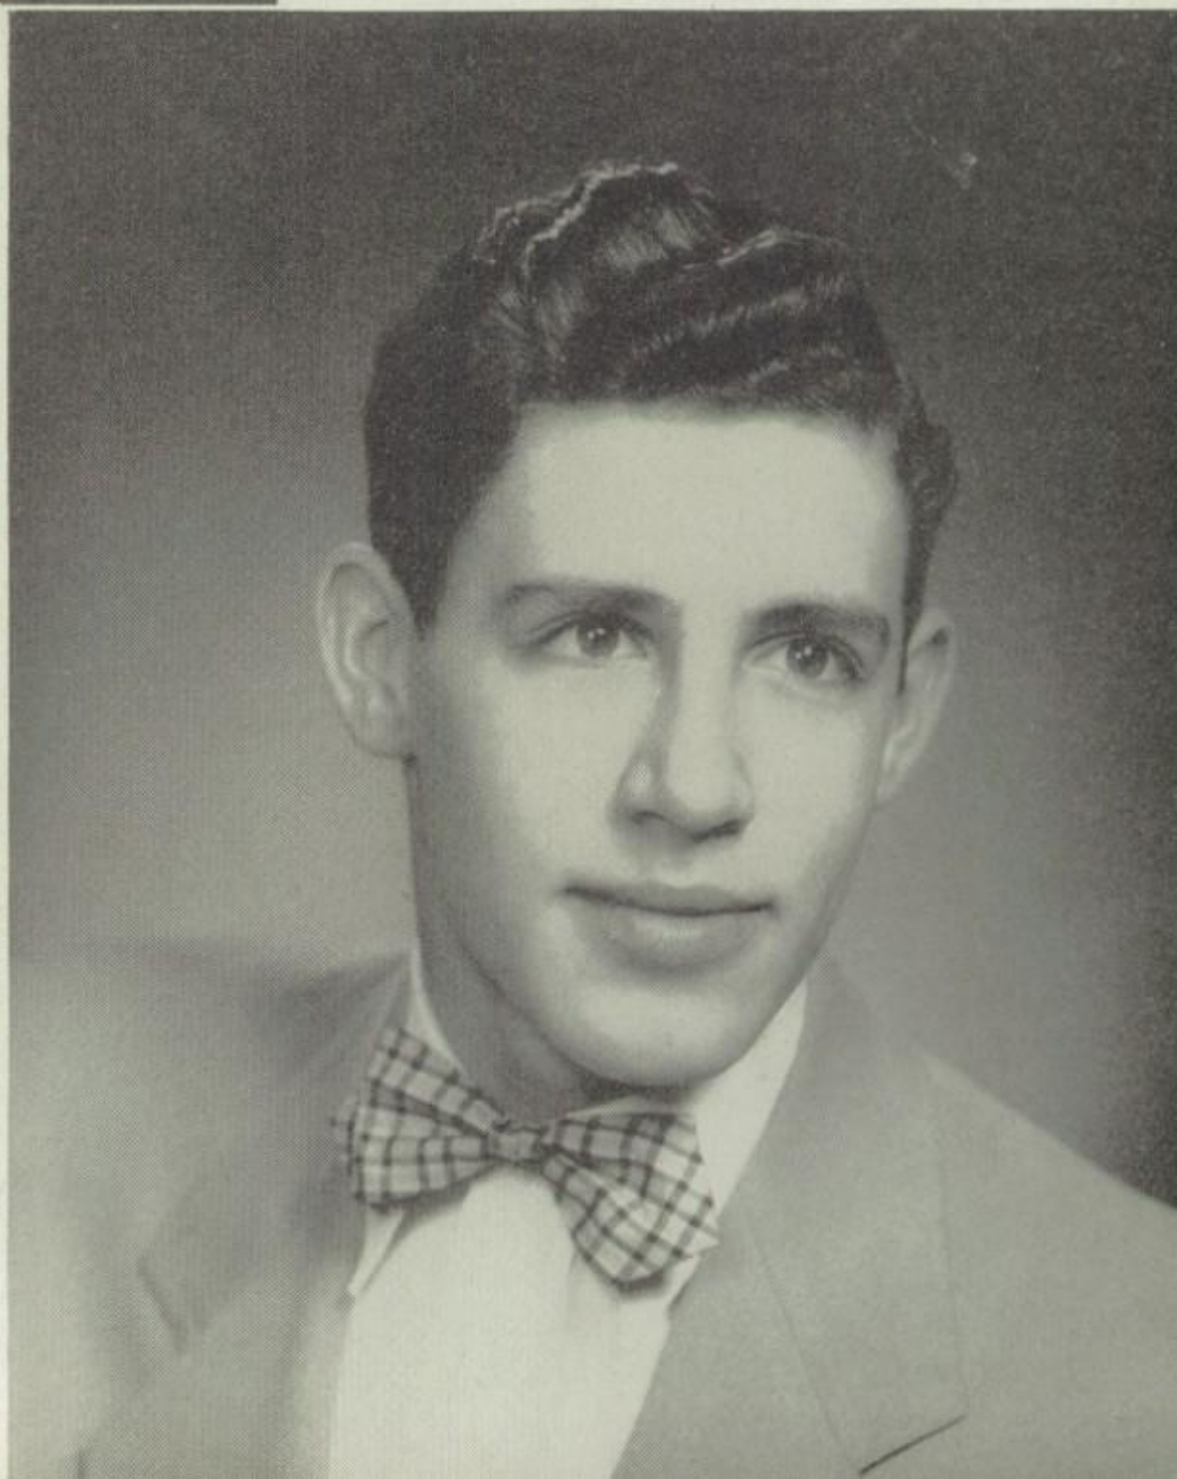

Representative Girl

Jean Shoultz was chosen by the students, from a list of 39 girls in the upper third of the senior class, for the honor of being the most representative girl in our high school. She was also our Queen, who reigned over the Homecoming festivities during the football season. During her junior year, Jean was President of Commercial Club. Some of her other activities included Future Homemakers of America and Pep Club.

Representative Boy

Besides being selected the representative boy, from a list of 20 senior boys in the upper third of the graduating class, Eddie Humpleby was a member of the 1950 National Honor Society. As a junior, he was out for track and lettered in baseball. It was also Eddie's privilege to be the Vice-President of his class during his senior year as well as participate in Hi-Y and Pep Club.

Each year AURORAN staff members receive Quill and Scroll honors, an international journalistic society for high school journalists. This year's members spent much time doing yearbook work. Florene Massey (left to right) composed a business letter and Diane Odell drew a division page. Marcia Belter typed copy while Norma Dollman, Pat Fuller, and Pat Toyne checked the AURORAN dummy. Ken McCaffery and Shirley Kruse had file and book work to be done.

Quill and Scroll

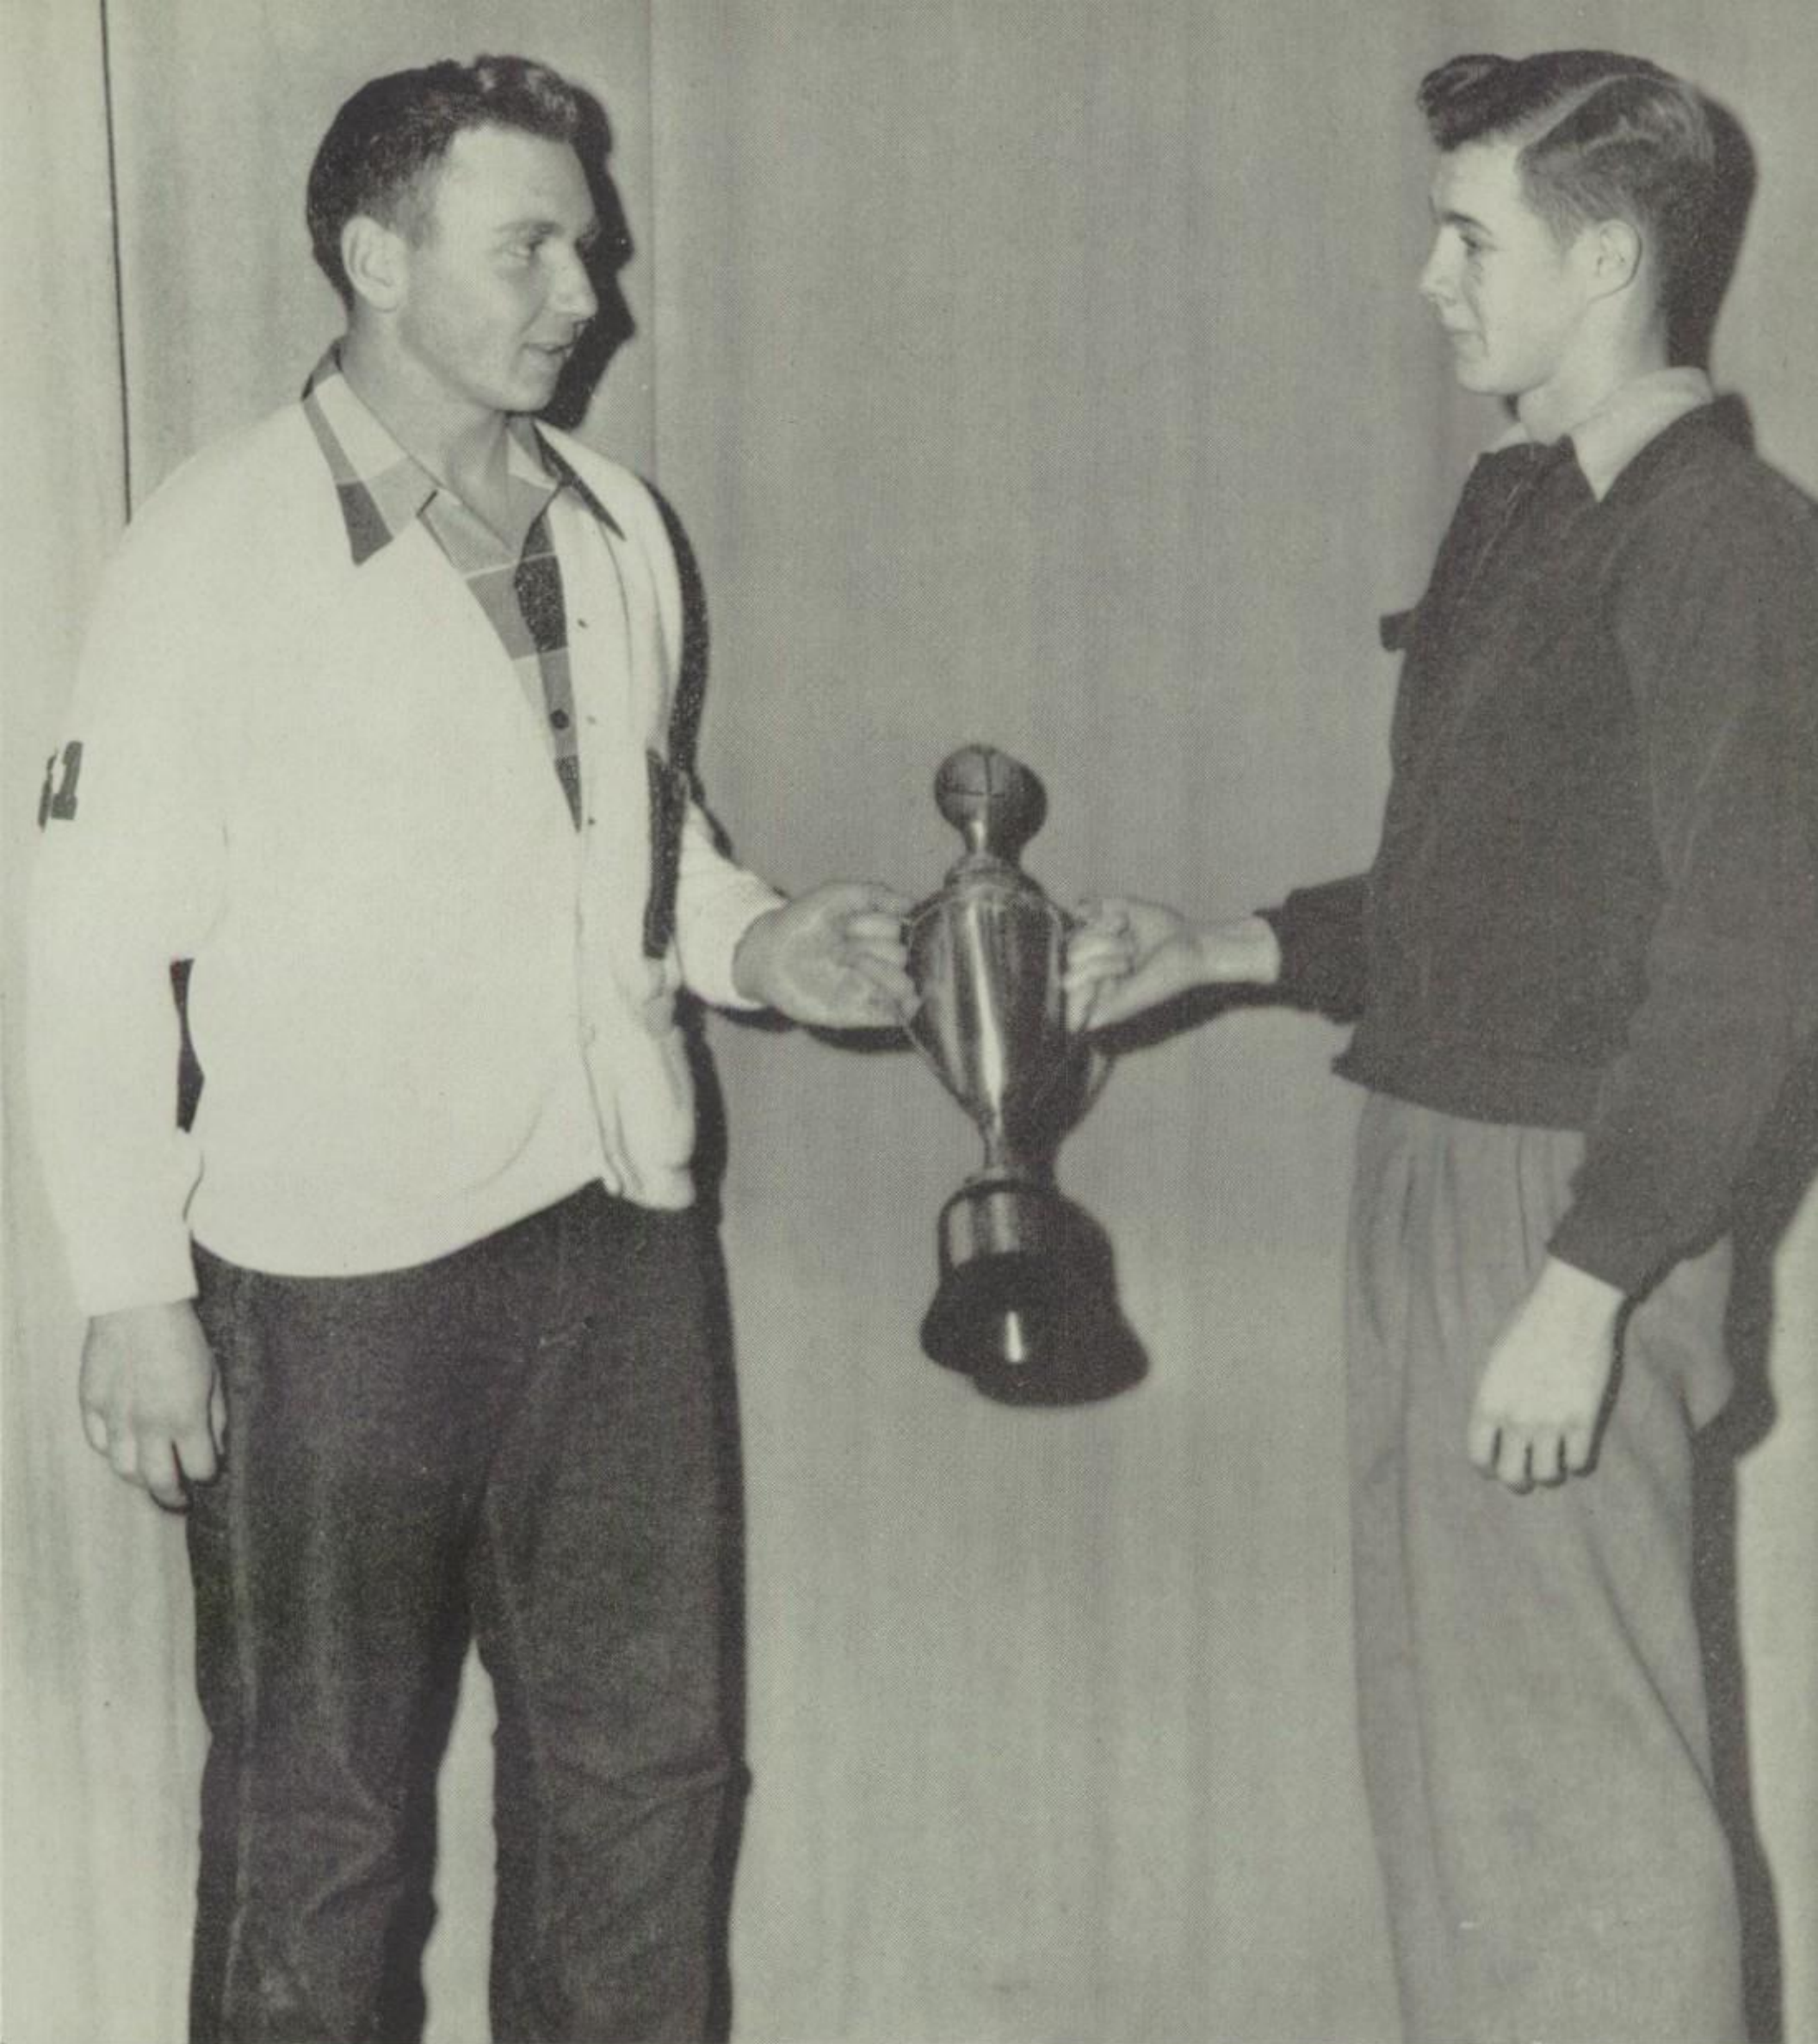

Ed Humpleby (left) was having a hard time holding his own against his five feminine members of the 1950 Honor Society. Ed and Suzanne Stevens (right) were playing ping-pong but Ed didn't have a chance as the spectators were on Suzanne's side. Her fans were JoAnn Bloom, Joan Borgstadt, Beverly Eis, and Mary Ann McCaffrey. Selection for National Honor Society is made by the faculty on the basis of scholarship, leadership, and participation in activities.

THREE POINT SENIORS:—First Row: Beverly Eis, 3.25; Dorothy Frankenberry, 3.21; Loretta Wyckoff, 3.62. Second Row: Eileen Sohn, 3.09; Rose Logel, 3.50; Mary Ann McCafrey, 3.32. Third Row: Suzanne Stevens, 3.54; Janet Tobias, 3.53; Alice Nichols, 3.85. Fourth Row: Beverly Smull, 3.07; Jo Ann Bloom, 4.0; Evelyn Hobart, 3.10. Fifth Row: Joyce Rummells, 3.00; Harold Gerndt, 3.10. Sixth Row: Joan Borgstadt, 3.85; Walter Rada, 3.21; Dwaine Pahl, 3.14. Seventh Row: Marcia Belter, 3.48; Bennett Levin, 3.53; Jerry Littell, 3.41. Eighth Row: Bill Coder, 3.07; Jerry Stark, 3.50.

Three Point Seniors

Jim King (left) and Dick Vander Horn were the proud holders of the Bill Roach Trophy this year. Each year an athletic committee awards the trophy to a member or members of the football squad who has been outstanding for team spirit, perseverance, courage, and sportsmanship. This year, as in two previous years, two boys were selected. The boys were teammates with Jim playing tackle and Dick center. Dick also played center on the basketball team.

Trophy Winners

Football captains Bob Berry (left) and Ronny Curtis (center), and basketball captain Jerry Stark stood gazing at the many trophies in the trophy case. The three boys were teammates during the grid season. Ronny played guard and Jerry played fullback. Bob didn't see much football action because of an injury early in the practice season. Jerry also played guard on the basketball squad, with teammate Bob playing a Musky forward position.

Captains

The senior class officers were caught in the act of bringing in the New Year, with much fun and clamor. Secretary-treasurer Ed Stark (left) did more than his share with a noise-maker in his hand and a hat tipped to one side. President Jim Sturms (center), wearing a tiny "lid", came forth with his usual outburst of laughter. Ed Humpleby, who served as vice-president, lent his part to the gaiety with his unique hat and shrill whistle.

SENIOR CLASS COLORS

Much fun was had by the junior class officers, as they put the finishing touches on the annual Christmas tree. Jon Rakow (left), vice-president, supervised while Barbara Boynton (middle), secretary-treasurer, stood on a chair to reach the top branches of the tree. Maurice Ziegenhorn (right), president, helped Barbara by handing her the ornaments. The tree helped to bring the Christmas spirit into our school during the season.

Snowballing provides quite a pastime for any student; even the Musky sophomore class officers found it exciting. Marian Sywassink, secretary-treasurer, sought inadequate protection behind a stop sign on Cedar Street, while snowballs were hurled in her direction. Darrell Cooney (middle), president, and Marlin Eichelberger, vice-president, chose to ignore the big letters on the sign; and continued to storm defenseless Marian with snowballs. No casualties resulted.

The fall of the year brought two holidays into the thought of the students. Jane Stanley, freshman class president, watched Sidney Stark (center), secretary-treasurer, attempting to make a distorted face on the pumpkin. Leaning on Sid's shoulder, Greg Schroeder, vice-president, gave a friendly word of advice to help make the jack-o-lantern successful for Halloween. The turkey wondered what his fate would be with Thanksgiving just around the corner.

The five Musky cheerleaders: Norma Dollman, Donna Silberhorn, Janiece Chapman, Joanne Kracht, and Marilyn Mason practiced one of their cheers under the basket before a pep assembly. These girls taught MHS students many new cheers to urge the Little Muskies on. The peppy five, all seniors, have led the cheering sections for the last two years. With their ever-ready vim and vitality they helped organize the Pep Club during the basketball season.

George Bishop (left) and Sherman Burns (center) cleared the first obstacle in the 120-yard high hurdles (1950 season). George was selected as track captain for the 1951 season. In this triangular meet, Muscatine placed first—93 points, Mt. Pleasant placed second—65 points, and Washington placed third—61 points.

Teamwork was essential as shown here, when Jerry Stark, one of Muskies' leading groundmen, scored against Washington with the help of Henry DeHeer (67) and Carl Brown. Bill Dickinson, after carrying out his halfback assignment for the gridders, came back to help unscramble the mix-up. Jim King (99), a tackler for Muscatine, made sure his man didn't get in the way. Jim was the big boy who helped Ronnie Beitz take care of the tackle positions.

Bill Dickinson, Muskies first-string halfback, still carries out the old saying, "where there is a will there is a way". This is one of Bill's spectacular plays in the Ottumwa game. The boys gave everything they had but that wasn't enough, as they were defeated by a score of 31 to 14. . . . Drive is a powerful word in football and here Daryle Houseal shows why, as he drags a Fairfield Trojan a few yards. The Trojans scored 20 to the Muskies' 7.

WHOOOPS! Donnie Sturms, the littlest man on the Musky team, had lots of power, but he just couldn't hold the pigskin, as a Fairfield player tackled him. Donnie played at quarterback, alternating with Mike Lofgren, Dick Hazen, and Jerry Stark. Mervin Sanders, a powerful gridder, got his man. In this picture, five per cent is know how and ninety-five is determination. Merv had both and used them. Despite the gridders' hard work, they ended fifth in the conference.

Seemingly impossible for Jerry Stark or Dick Vander Horn to stop him because of blockers, Ronny Curtis took on the task and did it himself. Ron was Coach Maas's co-captain this year, holding that position with Bob Berry. Coming to Muscatine Jim Maas found that he faced a major rebuilding job with only one back and a spattering of linemen returning from last year's ball club. Using these as a nucleus, he built a formidable team.

Hard work and plenty of action was what the Little Muskies encountered this 1950-51 season. Here, Ronnie Beitz and Bill Dickinson tried to tip the ball as Jerry Stark (7) and Gary Ramseyer (3) looked on. The Little Muskies didn't show up too well until tournament play when they eliminated Burlington and Fairfield respectively. The Muskies had previously been defeated twice in Little Six play by Burlington and Fairfield.

Basketball

This action shot portrayed big 6' 2" Jim Weber as he drove to score two points for the Muskies. A Ft. Madison player tried to block him. Jim, a junior, didn't see much action until the latter part of the season. . . . George Bishop, one of the faster senior guardmen, went up for a shot, but it was blocked by Logan of Keokuk. Ronnie Beitz (17) watched anxiously for the outcome. Where there was plenty of action you could expect to find George and Ronnie.

The Schnackmen as well as the Ottumwa Bulldogs had plenty of onlookers such as Bob Berry and Dick Vander Horn, but George Bishop (13) was out to reclaim the ball for the Muskies. . . . Dick Andersen wasn't sure of what move to make to prevent two Washington Demons from getting the loose ball. Bill Dickinson (10) was alert for any mishap. Dick was the Muskies' leading scorer and member of the second all-conference squad. Bill received honorable mention.

Going high in the air to rebound was Captain Jerry Stark, who discovered after this game a knee injury which kept him from action until the final games of the season. Dick Hazen (5) and Ronnie Beitz (17) stood by to lend Jerry a helping hand. Although Fairfield won this game, the Muskies defeated the Trojans 41-40 in the sub-state tournament play. As evidenced here, this war-like Trojan used every technique possible to obtain the ball for his team.

Stage Crew

Walter Rada tried to give Gaylord Archer a hotfoot. Gaylord in turn wanted to hit Jerry Littell and altogether the boys got themselves into a three way jam. Donna Petty (left) took Jane Stanley's point of view in a joking manner. Dave McGowan busily worked the radio controls for Janet Tobias and Ed Humpleby as they calmly plowed through a radio broadcast. Sandra Swengel helped Ida Mae Brendel with her coat as they left for a debate trip.

Speakers

G. A. A., Do-Ci-Doers

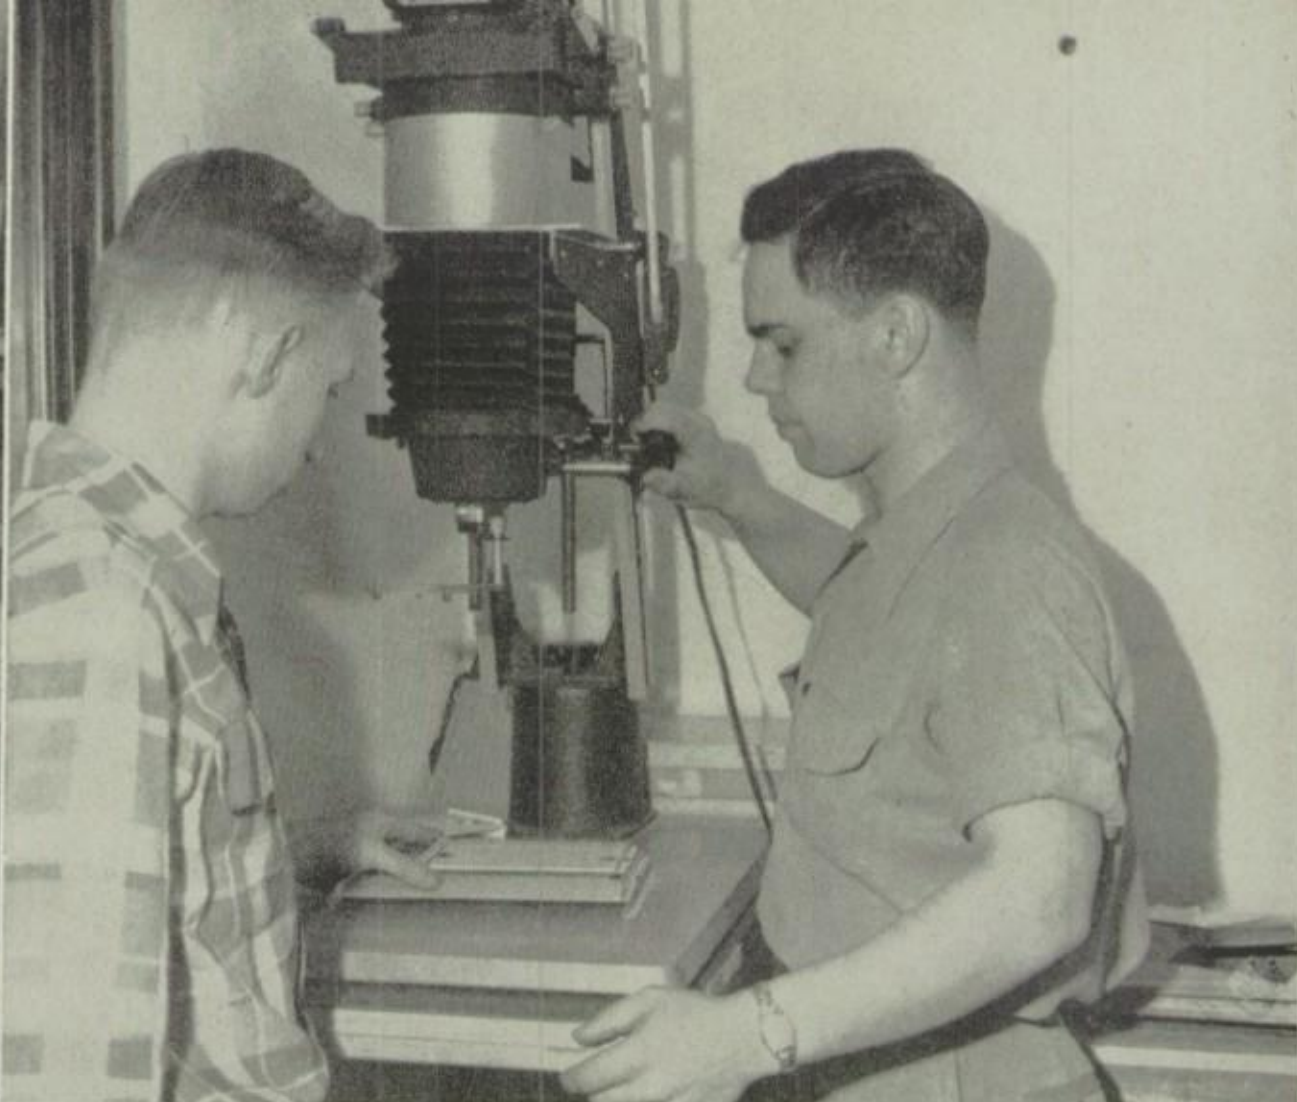

One of the major activities of the year was the banquet, which was given in the honor of the candidates for F.F.A. Parents were invited to the festivities, which included the initiation of twenty new members. Club President Mickey Hagermann conducted the meeting, while the other officers and Sponsor Lindley Hoopes stood by their stations. Mrs. Roscoe Eliason, who was guest speaker, presented a pictorial talk about rural conditions of Europe.

F. H. A. Commercial

Camera Club members Donald Hecht and Robert Furnas were giving their approval of pictures taken by the club. John Weber and Bill Henderson worked on pictures with the new enlarger purchased for the Camera Club. Snapshooters Fred Graham and Robert Furnas paused before loading their trusty little Crosley to the brim once more. This faithful little car went through rain, sleet, ice and snow to carry people and equipment to fulfill AURORAN assignments.

Snapshooters

Dwaine Pahl checked the attendance in one of the many library study halls and reported the absentees to Carol Wetzel. Louise Gasaway, Louise Marolf, and Lucille Stender spent numerous hours shelving books. Janet Froehner (left), Susan Bunker (center), and Lucy Shepard looked over a model, Roman home. Fellow Curia Regia members Don Rogers (left), Harry Glatstein, and Jane McIlrath joined forces in translating and parsing sentences.

Librarians, Latinists

Last fall, twenty-two Muscatine students went to the National Graphic Arts Exposition at Chicago, Illinois. Top left: Harry Duffield, Joe Fry, and Don McCleary posed with two midgets from the Brigham Roller Company of Des Moines. At the top, right, Mr. Hazarian and the Printing Club looked at the multilith press, which was set up by the American Type Founders. The Schnackmen lost a basketball game and Joyce Miller (left), Marlene Sturms (center), and Janet Hardman were unhappy about it, as they left the gym. Jim Holliday (left) and Jim Sturms checked the crowded school calendar to squeeze in a Pep Club dance after a game. It took a couple of Jims to make things dandy. Early in February, the Muscatine chorus had the privilege of singing for the 54th Iowa General Assembly in Des Moines.

Homecoming

Many High School and Junior College students enjoyed the fun nites at the "Y", where they could play cards, play ping-pong, or dance as they saw fit to do. In the upper picture, decorations helped to bring out the theme of the dance, which can be readily recognized as the "Sock-Hop". Another special dance was held February 9th. Merle Palmer and David Griffith were elected Queen and King of Hearts respectively and were crowned at intermission time.

Fun Nites

Dr. Stanley Vesely, director of the Coe College Band, presented a one hour concert to our students during the second semester. Highlight of the program was Gershwin's arrangement of Rhapsody in Blue. In the lower left picture the students gave the team a rousing send off. Mr. O'Brien demonstrated his dexterity on roller skates by spinning Dick Varney. Mrs. O'Brien remained in the background with Ruthellen Soltwedel and Bonnie Moomey.

Assemblies

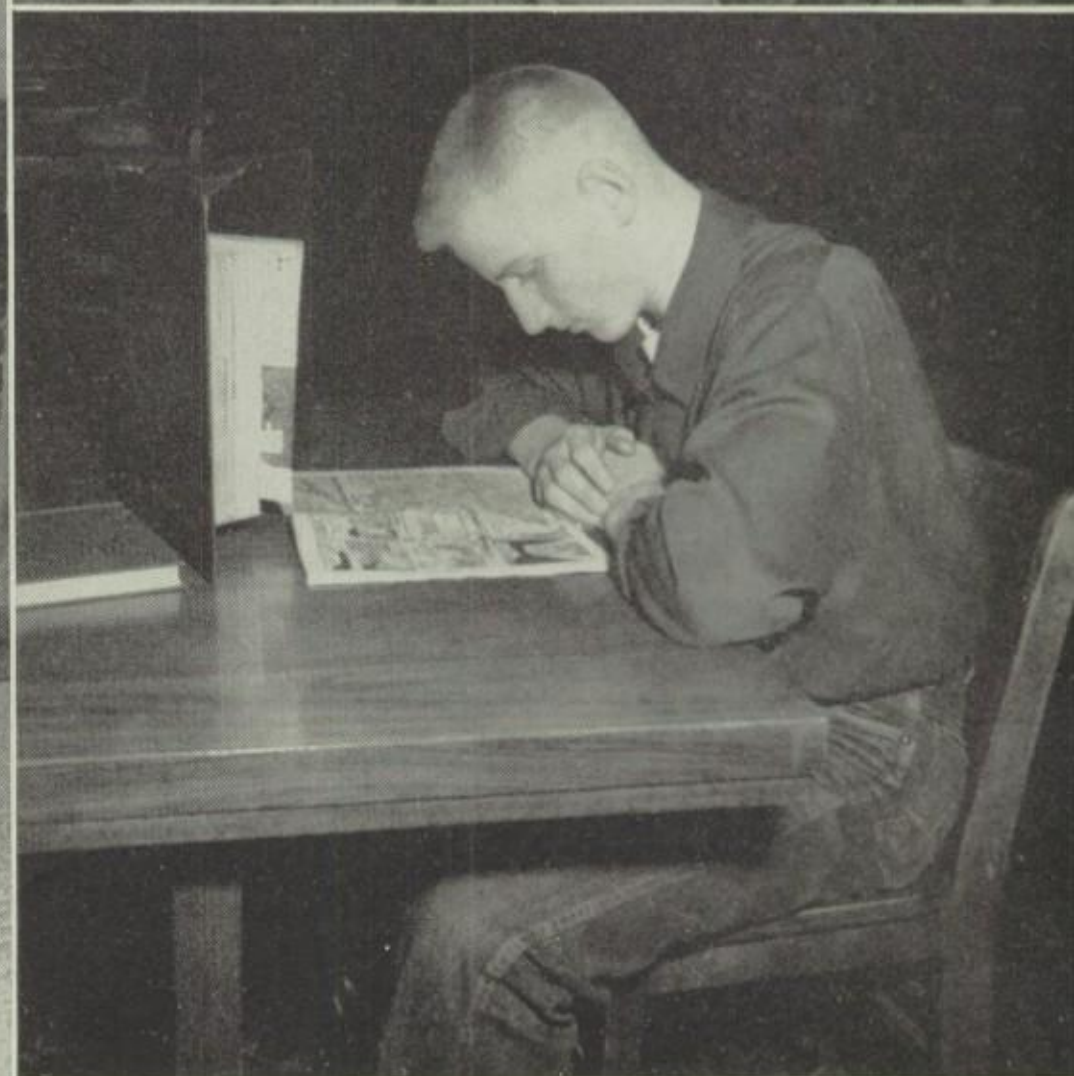

Upper left: Capt. Paul W. Dry displayed marine equipment, which he used during his 3,000,-000 miles of traveling. The Scot, dressed in his kilt, played several numbers on his Highland bagpipes. Fond affection was the binding quality between this friendly otter and the otterman. Upper right: Jack Rank, the versatile gentleman of the theater, portrayed all of the characters in "the Merchant of Venice". The visiting acrobat performed a handstand atop a ladder.

Assemblies

Alice Nichols decided to train Roger Copper in the art of dishwashing so they could go to an early show. Willie entertained Phillip Welsh and Shirley Weber, to the extent that he was getting some attention. Lyndon Lord (left to right), Ray Gaddis, Jack Pulliam, Ken McDaniel, Merle Strause, and John Wilson spent their noon hours playing cards in the social room. Gary Weber and Doug Coder were the floor-cleaners at the Musky basketball games.

Leisure Hours

Time waits for no man—but for a woman! Wesley Fry waited impatiently for Joann Rathburn to get ready for their date. In disgusted silence Dave Griffith waited for Nancy Sweitzer to stop chattering. Many nights, instead of a show for JoAnn Paetz and Bill Dickinson, they combined heads and plowed through stacks of books. Marlin Eichelberger may often have given the impression of being studious, but chances are he was catching up on his Captain Marvel.

Leisure Hours

Selecting their favorite records to listen to throughout the evening was Harry McKee and Marilyn Ward. Dodie Nordeen (left) and Bebe Figg (right) had difficulty with a dresser drawer which was determined to spill. Larry Brewer applied his knowledge of fudge making while Loretta Wyckoff was "Johnnie on the Spot" with her cook book. Everyone watched the screen while Bill Scannell (left) adjusted it for Naomi Stumme, Pat Toyne and Ronnie Sturms.

Leisure Hours

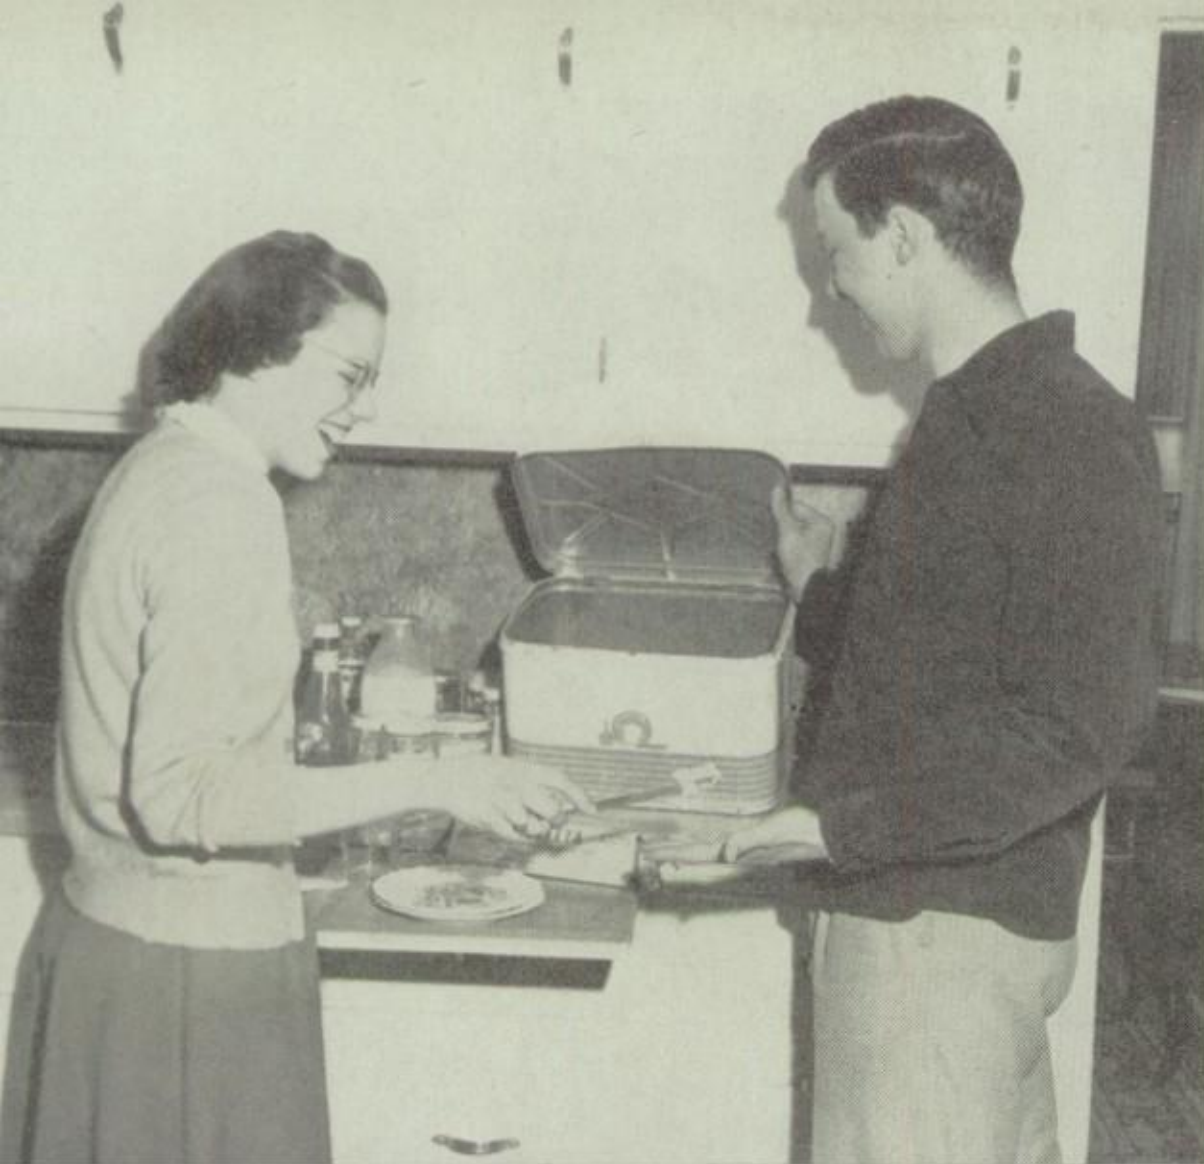

Junior golf champions, Dick Barry and Al Hoffman, practiced "teeing off" in the sunshine on the lawn of Musky High. Marvin Croson, Bob Berry, and Roger Rhodes were caught in the act of giving Jim Sturms an affectionate face washing. John Duncan, Janet Tobias, Sally Hine, and Wes Dibeler were buying souvenirs at the basketball tournament at Iowa City. JoAnn Paetz, Delores Nordeen, and Mary Kautz seemed to have their arms full of cotton candy.

Leisure Hours

Betty Franklin (left) helped Joanne Patterson sort her many sweaters. Skip Meerdink held up Sandra Eis's door key with a sigh of relief after she had emptied everything out of her lady-size purse. Marian Sywassink found an interesting comic book while helping Dean Tiecke clean out his overflowing locker of books and papers. Ruth Buckley hopelessly realized that her mending would never be finished at the rate brother Stanley wore holes in his socks.

Leisure Hours

Pat Ditch had everything ready for sandwiches when Gary Ackerson discovered there wasn't any bread. Dick Duggan was eyeing his sister, Phyllis, while she was picking out some of his shirts she was planning to borrow. Jerry Moore (left) helped Tom Wigim fix his tie before leaving for their dates. Who's who was Betty Minder's (right) and Rita Rebelsky's big problem. I wonder if they have ever mistaken Ronald Crow (left) for his twin, Donald.

Leisure Hours

Luise Husel, our transfer student from Germany, looked over the pictures of her new American friends. In a game of canasta, Berry Tracy discarded a black three to Joan Jessup, wrecking all hope for her to get the pile of cards. Don Stewart was teasing Riley with a can of dog food but Riley was more interested in the can of sardines. Suzanne Stevens (front) worried over the dire results when Barbara Lewis went to work cropping off her hair.

Leisure Hours

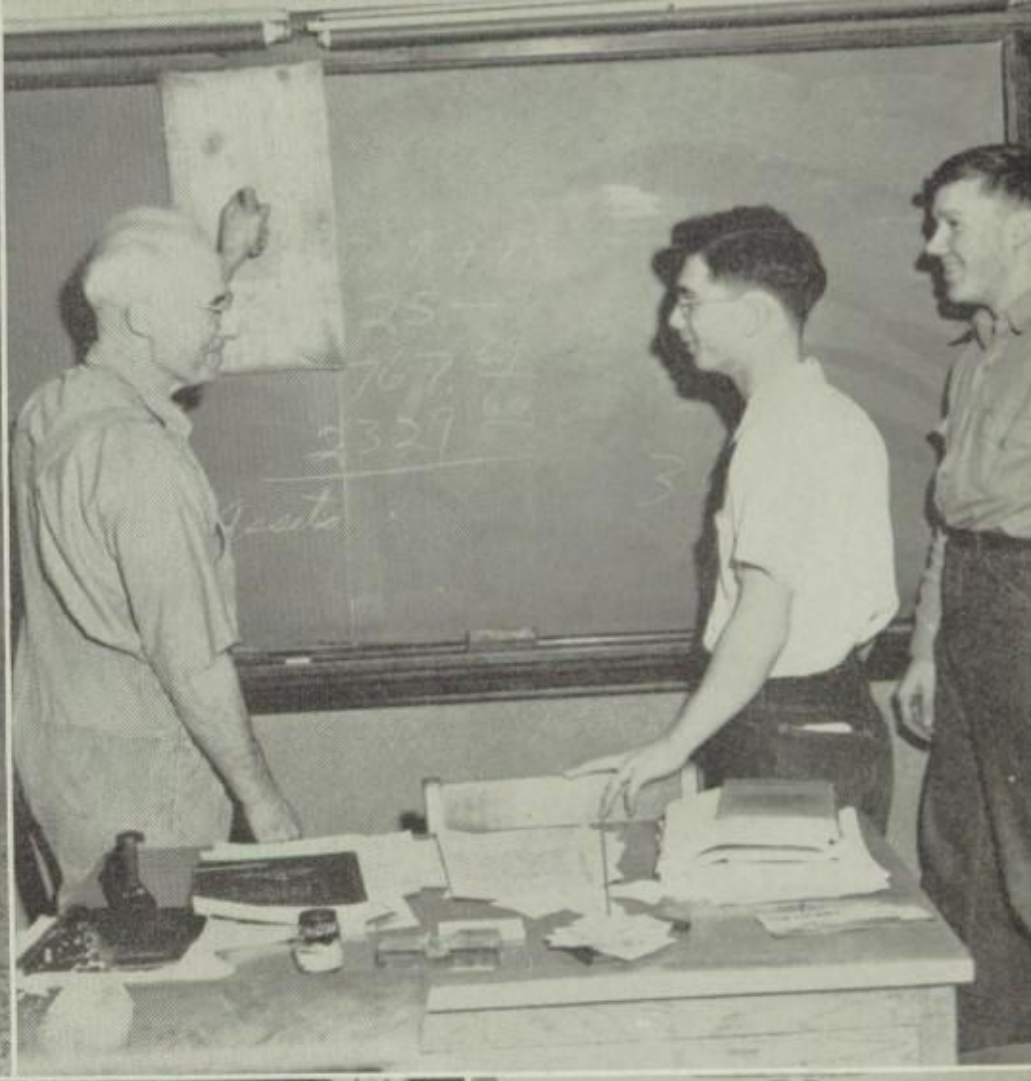

Every student remembers the snow storm of last March. There were several other people who remembered it too, namely Mrs. Ruthenberg and JoAnn Bloom, because the absenteeism for three days averaged approximately 200 students per day. In this typical office scene, students received admits to their classes. The line in the lower hall was a daily occurrence and if you want to see what they were waiting for, please turn to the next page immediately.

Memories

The students on the previous page were awaiting their opportunity to select their lunches from the ever-patient, always-courteous cafeteria staff, which included Mrs. Martha Carlson, Mrs. Alta Allen, and Mrs. Lila Hildebrand. The Department of Agriculture issued surplus crops to our school under the auspices of the Iowa School Lunch Program. These surplus items were sold in the cafeteria to offset the loss from selling other commodities to the students below cost.

Memories

Our custodian and janitorial staff performed never ending tasks around our high school. Exemplary of this was Harold Marx adjusting the drinking fountain for several students. Genial Joe McCaffrey applied the huge eraser to the blackboard. Jerry Reifert was nobly assisted at the pop-corn machine by Bob Schmitt. Mrs. Gertrude Steel exchanged a few humorous words with Ruth O'Brien. While the students helped, Ralph Flake replaced a defective light bulb.

Memories

The End of a Perfect Walk

Musky Advertisers

The AURORAN staff and the high school students appreciate the way the merchants of Muscatine have consistently supported their yearbook. This year, a total of 175 merchants and professional men have used the following 35 pages, with the hope of creating student interest in the business-life of Muscatine. Through their generous advertising, these individuals, partners, and corporations have provided income, which covered approximately one-third of the total cost of our book, thereby reducing the cost of ownership to the student.

To give you an idea of the work entailed, the ad staff was divided into teams, who solicited advertising through a two-platoon system. Walter Hoag, our advertising manager, organized lists of prospective advertisers for each of the teams to contact. Group A consisted of Beverly Barko, Robert Carlson, Pat Grossklaus, Shirley Meisky, Joyce Meyer and Shirley Schmidt. Included in Group B were Marvin Croson, Janet Emlet, Phyllis Wagler, Ruth Hagy, Shirley Kruse, Marilyn Ward, and Marilyn Watts. The schedule was established whereby group A worked 6th period Monday, Wednesday, and Friday, while Group B worked 6th period Tuesday and Thursday. Each week, the 2-day and 3-day work schedule alternated between groups, until we had complete coverage of the advertisers in the 1950 AURORAN.

The owners of these yearbooks are requested to express their individual appreciation by patronizing, whenever possible, the faithful advertising clientele listed in this ever-important section of our book.
